The Case for Impact Investing – Female Focus

- ❑ Strong overlap exists between companies with diverse leadership and attractive fundamentals with lower risk.
- ❑ Focus on companies seeking financial return on capital through the intentional consideration for diversity. This differs from philanthropy where financial returns may not be a consideration.
- ❑ Stock selection focuses on companies that proactively believe that a diverse workforce contributes to financial success. Additionally, a large market opportunity exists for businesses addressing the needs of women in society.
- ❑ Female focused investing provides investors with a targeted portfolio tilting investment assets towards a specific goal.
- ❑ Aligning investments with companies actively seeking to promote women and close the gender gap rewards and supports positive action.

Female Focus Criteria + A Proven Investment Process

Screening for top ranked companies within existing Tradition portfolios has multiple benefits*

- ❑ Potential for additional alpha ****

Companies highly ranked in both fundamental models and female screening criteria can help capture additional returns

- ❑ Lowered risk

Disclosed female/gender population data provide transparency helpful in determining idiosyncratic or company-specific red flags

- ❑ Investor incentive

Gender lens investing appeals to a growing demographic and aligns client goals, objectives and values with investments

* Cambridge Associates, “Gender Lens Investing, Impact opportunities through Gender Equity

*Alpha is a risk (beta adjusted) measurement. Officially, alpha measures the difference between a portfolio actual returns and what it might be expected to deliver based on its level of risk. High risk generally means higher reward. A positive alpha means the fund has beaten expectations. A negative alpha means that the manager failed to match performance with risk. If two managers had the same return, but one had a lower beta, that manager would have a higher alpha.

Tradition's Investment Philosophy

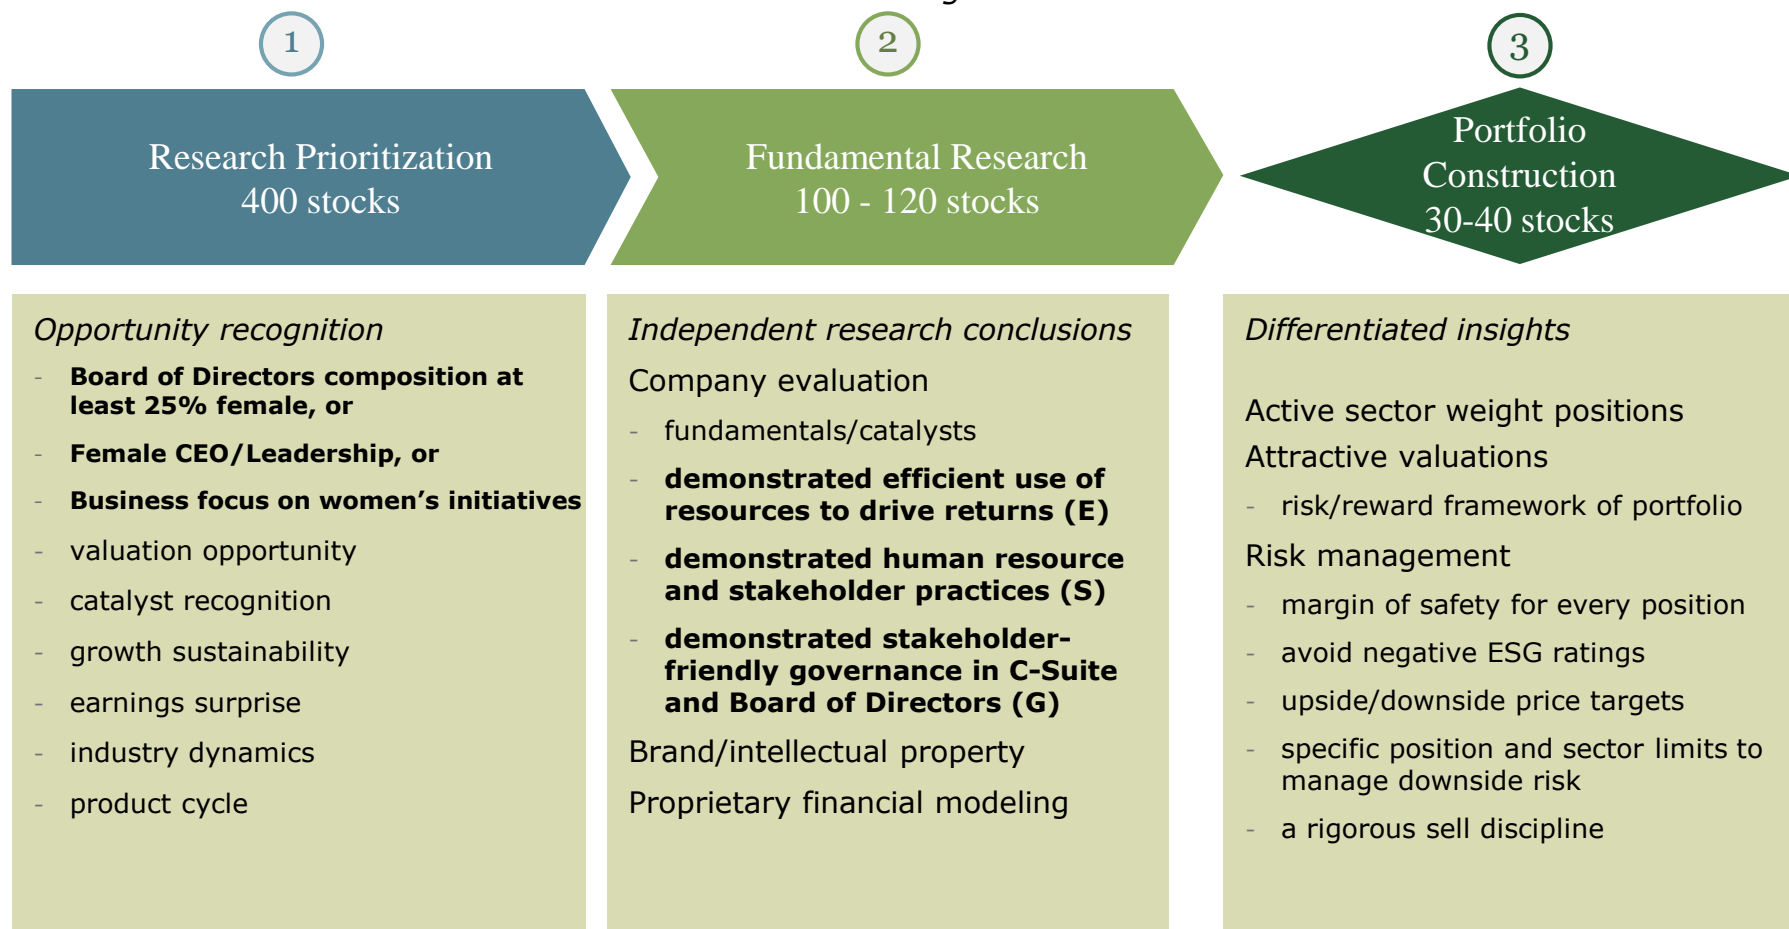

A Well-Disciplined Approach

- ❑ Markets are inefficient in the short term; fear and greed create opportunities for the long-term investor
- ❑ Share prices often fluctuate above/below their intrinsic value (our estimate of a company's economic worth)
- ❑ Fundamental research uncovers opportunities to capitalize and to manage risk
- ❑ We invest only if our proprietary research suggests a stock is undervalued

Bright Horizons Family Solutions (BFAM)

Industry: Consumer Services

Bright Horizons is a leading provider of high-quality childcare and early education, back-up care and educational advisory services designed to help employers and families better address the challenges of work and family life. The company has client relationships with over 170 Fortune 500 companies and over 1,150 relationships worldwide.

Sales: $1.941 bil.

Sales CAGR: 10%

FY1 est. EPS: $3.63

2020 est. EPS: $4.17

EBITDA CAGR: 15%

Source: Bloomberg

Female Focus Thesis:

Bright Horizon's Board of Directors is composed of 53.8% (7/13) women, and has 40% female executive leadership in the Chief Operating Officer and Chief Financial Officer positions.

The company's business is focused on improving the work life balance for families across the globe, primarily through corporate employers seeking to provide enhanced benefits for employees. The company has been operating for over 30 years and has maintained its reputation as a high-quality childcare provider with low staff turnover. Additionally, the company provides educational advisory services through college years.

Investment Thesis:

We believe that Bright Horizon will sustain high earnings and operating margins through multiple expansion opportunities in the US and abroad. Demographics support growth in the US with millennials beginning to form households and have children, while maintaining dual careers. Additionally, employers are increasing benefits that improve work life balance in order to keep valued employees in the workforce as the labor pool is shrinking. Long term contracts provide revenue stability and rising EBITDA, which supports the above market valuation.
